

Meet the Staff: Phyllis Davis, Funeral Service Assistant

By: Phyllis G. Davis

I was born and raised in a small community, on a farm in Shakertown, Kentucky. In my teenage years my family moved to Lexington, Kentucky. While in high school I met my husband, Ferrill Davis. We have been married for 50 years and have been blessed with three children. Our sons, Ray and Rob, have blessed us with eight grandchildren and five great grandchildren. Our daughter, Paige, passed away in 2005.

After moving to Henry County, Kentucky, my husband and I bought an insurance agency and we sold property, casualty & life Insurance. During this time my husband felt called to serve the Lord, so he started his schooling to become a minister. During his thirty one years of service to three churches in Henry County and Trimble County, I served as the choir director and pianist. My husband retired from fulltime Ministry in 2015 and I retired after twenty five years of working as an insurance agent. Although he still does some part time preaching, we came to realize that we missed being involved with others on a day to day basis.

Our lives have always centered on family, community and our church family. We have a great love for people, so we began to explore opportunities where we could help others. We heard that Lytle Funeral Homes had acquired a second location on Madison's hilltop and inquired about the possibility of working for them. At that meeting, we could see immediately that they were compassionate people who truly cared about the needs of others. We knew that the services of Trevor Lytle and his staff would be the outlet that would fill the void in our lives. November of 2015 was the beginning of a new journey for us.

Death of a loved one is always an emotional time in a family. I have observed the attention and care that has been given to families, by the entire Lytle Funeral Home staff. As a staff member we have also been given that same care. It is like a "family feeling".

In January of this year, Lytle Funeral Homes and Cremation Service acquired a third location in Milton, Kentucky and my journey in life expanded. I have the privilege of being in the Milton office almost every day and look forward to meeting each person that comes through the door. I assure you that we intend to carry on the same great services at this location. My life has been truly blessed to be working with Lytle Funeral Homes. We are here to help your family through the most difficult time of your life.
